Those who voted for Mr Gill, are

Messrs. President, Baylor, Farrar, King, McClellan and Simmons.

Mr Davenport received the vote of Mr Watrous.

Those who voted for Mr Fulsham, are Messrs. Hill and Riddle.

Mr Thomas having received a majority of the votes given, was declared by Mr President duly elected Door Keeper of the Senate.

Mr Farrar introduced the following resolution: Resolved, That the House of Representatives be informed that the Senate is now organized, and have elected James M. Calhoun President, Jones M. Withers Secretary, Thomas B. Childress Assistant Secretary and Armstead R. Thomas Door Keeper, and are now ready to proceed to business.

On motion of Mr Hudson, Resolved, That the rules adopted for the government of the Senate at the last session, be adopted for the government of the Senate at the present session, until otherwise ordered.

On motion of Mr Riddle, Resolved, That the usual standing committees be appointed by the President, for the present session of the Senate.

Mr Frazier introduced the following resolution, Resolved, That a committee be appointed on the part of the Senate, to act with such committee as may be appointed on the part of the House of Representatives, to wait upon his Excellency the Governor, and inform him of the organization of the two Houses, and of their readiness to receive any communication which he may think proper to make—which resolution was, on motion, ordered to lie on the table.

On motion of Mr Hudson, Resolved, That the editor of all public journals in the State of Alabama, be permitted to occupy places within the bar of the Senate, for the purpose of reporting the proceeding thereof.

On motion of Mr Cottrell, the Senate adjourned until to-morrow morning, ten o'clock.
Tuesday, December 4.—The Senate met pursuant to adjournment. Mr Flemming appeared and took his seat.

Mr President announced from the chair the following standing committees.

On Propositions and Grievances—Messrs. Simmons, Hill, Toulmin, McClellan, Fleming and Riddle.

On Enrolled Bills—Messrs. McClellan, Rains, Wilson, Henderson and Fleming.

On the Judiciary—Messrs. Cottrell, Lee, Watrous, Baylor, Riddle, Rains, Ross and Rice.

On Education—Messrs. Rains, Lee, Watrous, Rice and King.

On the State Capitol—Messrs. Dent, Frazier, Simmons, Wellborn, Ward, Rodgers and Smith.

On the State Bank—Messrs. Mays, Terry, Dent, Rice, King, Toulmin, Lee, Cottrell and McVay.

On Military Affairs—Messrs. Wellborn, Dent, Cottrell, Farrar, Fleming, Frazier, Hudson, McClellan and Toulmin.

On Divorce and Alimony—Messrs. Watrous, King, Devereaux, Lloyd, Hill and Wellborn.

On State Printing—Messrs. Hudson, Rodgers, McVay, Baylor and Lloyd.

Mr President presented the Comptroller's Report, which, on motion of Mr Dent, was laid on the table, and two hundred copies ordered to be printed.

Mr President presented the report of the President of the Branch of the Bank of the State of Alabama at Montgomery, which on motion of Mr Cottrell, was laid on the table.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr Garrett. Mr. President—I am instructed by the House of Representatives, to inform the Senate the House has organized, and elected the Hon. James W. McClung of Madison Speaker, William Garrett Principal Clerk, Thomas Price Engrossing Clerk, Joseph Phelan Assistant Clerk, John Tatom Door Keeper, and James Rather messenger, which on motion, was laid on the table.

Mr President presented sealed documents concerning a contested election in the Senatorial district of Henry, Covington and Dale, which, on motion of Mr Hudson, was referred to the committee on Privileges and Elections.

Mr Cottrell presented the petition from the officers of the thirteenth brigade, fifth division Alabama militia, which was referred to the committee on Military Affairs.

Mr Ross presented an account of Jonathan M. Hill, Sheriff of Wilcox county for services rendered by order of the Court, which was referred to the committee on Accounts.

Mr Ross presented the account of Daniel Rosser, with accompanying documents, which were referred to the committee on accounts.

Mr Frazier presented a petition from the citizens of Jackson county, praying relief for those citizens who are indebted to the State Bank and Branches, referred to the committee on the State Bank.

Mr Hudson presented a memorial from William Hester, former tax collector of Franklin county, referred to the committee on Proposition and Grievances.

Mr Cottrell offered the following resolution, Resolved, That the reports of the State Bank and the several Branch Banks at Montgomery, Mobile, Huntsville and Decatur, and of the Bank of Mobile and of the merchants and Planters Bank, be laid on the table, and that one thousand copies be printed of each, and that the committee on State printing cause them to be printed in connection, and in pamphlet form, for the use of the Senate, which resolution was laid upon the table.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr Phelan. Mr President—The House of Representatives have adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That a committee be appointed on the part of the House of Representatives, to act with such committee as may be appointed by the Senate, to wait on His Excellency the Governor, and inform him that the two Houses are organized and are now ready to receive any communication he may think proper to make, and have appointed on their part, messrs. Findley, Moore of Madison and Shortridge, in which they ask the concurrence of the Senate, which resolution was concurred in—and messrs. Hudson, McClellan and Toulmin, were appointed a committee in pursuance of said resolution.

Mr Wellbourn moved the following resolution. Resolved, that a committee be appointed to inquire into the propriety of paying off the Russell volunteers for services rendered during the late war with the Creek Indians—concurred in, and messrs. Wellborn, Frazier and Dent, were appointed said committee.

Mr Smith offered a bill, to be entitled an act, to improve the Alabama, Cahawba, Coosa, Tallapoosa, Tombecbee and Black Warrior river, read by its caption—on motion of Mr Rains, the constitutional rule was suspended, the bill received its second reading, by its caption, and was referred to the committee on Inland Navigation.

Mr President presented the annual Report of the President of the Branch Bank at Mobile, which, on motion, was laid on the table.

Mr Lee presented a petition from a numerous citizens, praying a repeal of a portion of the laws of the common school fund and for other purposes, and moved that it be referred to the committee on Education. Which was so ordered.

Mr Lee offered a bill, to be entitled an act, to repeal in part an act entitled an act to revive and amend the laws in relation to schools and school lands, which was read the first and second times and referred to the committee on Education.

Mr Terry presented a petition from the President and Directors of the Union Hotel Company in the town of Huntsville, praying a charter, which, on motion of Mr Terry, was referred the Judiciary committee.

Mr Lee presented the Union of the officers of the fourteenth brigade, third division of Alabama militia, assembled at Camp Thompson, which was referred to the committee on Military Affairs.

Mr Ward presented a petition from the citizens of the south eastern part of Alabama, praying the establishment of a Branch of the Bank of the State of Alabama, at Irwinton, which on motion of Mr Hudson, was referred to the committee on the State Bank.

Mr Rice offered the following resolution, Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary, be instructed to inquire into the expediency of establishing a Penitentiary and State Prison, and to report by bill or otherwise, which resolution was adopted.

Mr. Hudson made the following Report: The Committee appointed on the part of the Senate, to act with such committee as was appointed on the part of the House of Representatives, to wait on His Excellency the Governor, and inform him of the organization of the two Houses and their readiness to receive any communication which he might think proper to make, have performed that duty, and have received for answer, that he will make a communication, in writing, to both branches of the General Assembly, to-day, precisely at half past eleven o'clock. Which report was laid upon the table.

Mr Dent presented the certificate of the commanding officer of the Dallas county volunteers for Florida, in relation to services of Mitchel Roberts and John M. Bay, and their claims to compensation therefor, which was laid upon the table, and subsequently withdrawn.

On motion of Mr Hudson, the resolution of Mr Wellborn, to appoint a select committee to inquire into the propriety of paying the Russell volunteers for services rendered in the late Creek war, was reconsidered and laid on the table.

Message from His Excellency the Governor, by his private Secretary, Mr Gooch.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Tuskaloosa, December, 3d, 1838 }

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

The revolution of another year has convened us at the Capitol, for the purpose of deliberating on the public interests of our common constituents; and it becomes our indispensable duty, as the servants and Representatives of a people professing the mild and tolerating doctrines of the Christian Religion, to return our grateful and solemn thanks to the Divine Ruler of the universe for the blessings conferred upon us during the past year. Every section of the State has been blessed with the enjoyment of an universal degree of health. The grain crop, in many parts of the State, is said to be much more abundant than in any of the surrounding States, and although the cotton crop, when we estimate the quantity planted, will not equal the production of some former years, it is fair to conclude, that the enhanced price consequent upon diminished production, will yield to the planter an adequate profit upon his capital and labor. It is a source of most agreeable reflection, too, to perceive that that portion of our fellow citizens, who, in common with much larger portions in other parts of the United States, were laboring under pecuniary embarrassment, growing out of the sudden and unexpected revulsion in the commercial and momentary affairs of the country, under a system of rigid economy and persevering industry, and profiting by the salutary admonitions of past experience, are rapidly emerging from the difficulties in which they were involved, and will, no doubt, by continued perseverance in the commendable course so nobly begun, soon find themselves entirely relieved from the entanglements of debt, and in the enjoyment of prosperity, affluence and comfort.

Another source of peculiar gratification at the present period, is, that for the first time since the adoption of our State Constitution, we are in the full and undisturbed possession of the whole extent of soil embraced within our territorial limits. The last remnant of the native, original possessors of the soil, included within the limits of this State, have, in pursuance of the policy of the General Government, and under the superintendence and direction of a distinguished officer of the Army of the United States, been removed, or are now on their way to the homes provided for them, in exchange for their lands, west of the Mississippi. And although the sigh of regret and commiseration may escape us, when we reflect on the necessity that existed for the removal of this wasting and unfortunate race of beings, from the land of their nativity and the homes and the graves of their ancestors, we cannot be insensible to the great and manifold advantages which have, in consequence of this policy, resulted to us.

The Government of the United States, in pursuance of the wise and liberal policy which has uniformly characterized its legislation in reference to the new States of this Union, has extended the pre-emptive system to the lands lying in this State, recently acquired from the Indians; and it cannot fail to prove a source of pride and gratification to every citizen of Alabama, that her Senators and Representatives in Congress have eminently contributed to the success and continuance of a system, not only just in itself, but fraught with peculiar advantages to a large and meritorious class of our fellow citizens.

It would be improper for me to omit, on this occasion, to bear testimony to the manner in which that portion of the people of this State, who were called on for that purpose, performed, in all human probability, the last act in the drama of our Indian affairs. In complying with the requisition from the War Department for troops to aid in the execution of the treaty with the Cherokees, the only difficulty experienced was in determining who, among the great number tendering their services, could be most properly excluded from the service of their country.— And at a later period, when, from the aspect of the negotiations between the Secretary of War, and certain Chiefs of the Cherokee Nation, I felt it to be my duty to organize a force of fifteen hundred men, to act as circumstances might require, and issued an order to that effect to Major Generals Patterson and Philpot, commanding the first and seventh divisions, to furnish seven hundred and fifty men each, from their respective commands, the requisit number immediately stepped forward with a promptitude and alacrity which reflects the highest credit on their patriotism and valor.

The war with the Seminoles still lingers to its termination, and the people of Dale county have experienced great inconvenience and considerable loss from its continuance. In the month of January last, from the repeated and pressing solicitations of the inhabitants of that county, I considered it proper to authorize Col. William Pouncey, who was recommended to me as an excellent partizan officer, to raise a company of Mounted Rangers, to protect the frontier inhabitants against the incursions of straggling parties of Indians, and to enable the settlers to plant their crops; and am happy to learn that this precautionary measure had the desired effect. Part of the expense of this measure, amounting to seven hundred and fifty dollars, has been paid out of the contingent fund, and it will become the duty of the General Assembly to provide, by law, for the payment of the balance. While upon this subject, I beg leave to recommend to your careful examination, the claims growing out of the late difficulties with the Creek Indians. To provide for the payment of those who performed services, and incur expenses in times of public difficulty and danger, is one of the clearest dictates of justice, as well as gratitude. In order to facilitate your enquiries upon this subject, and to prevent mistakes, I have requested the State Treasurer to furnish you with a complete statement of the amount of the accounts, and the individuals to whom paid, in virtue of acts of appropriation, as well as those allowed by the Commissioner appointed for that purpose.

Under the act of the 23d of December, 1837, authorizing the appointment of three Commissioners to examine the State Bank and Branches, and to report to this Department in the manner specified in said act, on the 31st day of January, I appointed John B. Norris of the city Mobile, Thomas Owen of Tuscaloosa, and Thomas Brandon of Huntsville, to perform that duty. Their first report, exhibiting the actual condition of the Banks up to the period at which the examination closed, was communicated in May. The second examination contemplated by the act under which the Commissioners were appointed, was closed a few days since, but has not been formally communicated to this Department. From the acknowledged ability of the Commissioners, it is fair to presume that the second report will contain many valuable and important suggestions with regard to the future management of the Banks. Both the reports will, according to the terms of the law, be communicated to you during the present session.

Many reasons conspire, in the present unexampled conjuncture of our public affairs, to render the State Bank and its Branches, objects of peculiar solicitude and anxiety to those who are engaged in the public service. And, notwithstanding a just diffidence in my abilities with respect to most matters, and especially the question of Banking and Finance, as one of the requirements of the Constitution is, that I should recommend to your consideration such measures as I may deem expedient, I beg leave respectfully to submit to you the propriety of certain cardinal changes in the mode of managing the State Bank and Branches, which appear to my mind as indispensably necessary to their successful operation. Neither would it be altogether candid in me, not to say, that originally I was opposed to the whole State Bank system. I thought I saw in the system itself, intrinsic difficulties not to be overcome by any course of management, however prudent, and the tendencies of which could not be counteracted by any policy, however wise and cautious. But subsequent observation and reflection have both tended to convince me, that the defects I had supposed to be inherent in the system itself, have proceeded, in a great measure, if not entirely, from defective organization and mismanagement and are mainly attributable to the following causes:

- 1st. The want of some general head or controlling principle.
- 2d. The frequent election of numerous Boards of Directors by the Legislature.
- 3d. The mode of compensating the Directors, in the shape of Discounts and accommodations.
- 4th. In not requiring the Banks to keep a larger amount of specie in their vaults, in proportion to their circulation. And
- 5th. The transaction of too large a portion of their business on long time. Under this last head will, of course, be included the unreasonably large sums loaned to individuals.

The constitutional provision under which the State Bank and Branches are established, is in the following language: "One State Bank may be established, with such number of Branches as the Legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient," &c.

The evident import, and meaning of this language would seem to be, that the Branch Banks were to be emanations from the State Bank, or that they were to be connected with it; or, at least, that they should be so organized as to form parts of the same system, and to act in concert and harmony with the mother Bank, as well as with each other, instead of being what in fact they now are, independent institutions, each acting for itself, with very little, if any, regard to the interest of each other, without any unity of purpose or design, and entirely uninfluenced by the operation of any general principle. Indeed, it must be obvious to every one who has bestowed the slightest attention, or made the least observation on the subject, that the Branches of the Bank of the State of Alabama, are Branches in name merely; and that to all practical intents and purposes, they are separate, distinct and independent institutions; and that notwithstanding they rest for support on the same common foundation, the faith and credit of the State, and, properly managed, none can rely on a surer or safer basis; that owing to the influence of divided counsels; or to the separate, distinct and independent action of unconnected and conflicting views—being bound together by no common principle of harmonious action they are, at all times, in danger of defeating the primary object which the framers of the Constitution had in view—furnishing a sound, stable and uniform currency. Indeed this year has witnessed the fact, that some, if not all these institutions have made a difference between their own paper and that of other State institutions. But really, when we consider the obvious departure from the spirit and meaning of the Constitution, in the establishment and organization of the Branch Banks, and see that these Branches have not, and never had, any connection with the body of which they purport to be members, it is only astonishing that they should have succeeded as well as they have. For an organized body without a head, or any general controlling power, is an anomaly in principle, and, if not an absurdity in practice, must at all times be eccentric in its movements, and of dangerous tendency. The only two modes that occur to me as likely to remedy the existing defects in the organization of the system, are the following: either to invest the mother Bank a controlling power over the Branches, or to create a Board of Control, consisting of five Commissioners, one for each Bank, with a competent salary, and making it their duty to meet as often as circumstances might render it proper, and to prescribe general rules for the government of the State Bank and each of the Branches, in all their general operations, and leaving matters of detail to the respective Boards of Directors.

Another palpable defect in the system, is the mode of electing, and the number of the Directors. The Directors are too much dependent on the members of the Legislature—and the members of the Legislature themselves do not and cannot act under a sufficient sense of responsibility, in the election of Bank Directors. Indeed, I look upon the present mode of electing Bank Directors, as not only having an inevitable tendency to, but as certain to end in corruption, as that effects follow their causes.

I trust I shall not be understood as making unworthy or improper allusions to any existing state of things. I am endeavoring, by the exercise of a prudent foresight, to guard against the mischiefs that lie before us, and which may, if not guarded against, endanger the safety of our institutions.

In bringing again to the attention of the Legislature, that change in the mode of electing Bank Directors, which, on a former occasion, I felt it to be my duty to present to their consideration, I am not unaware that I may subject myself to the charge of pertinacity of views, and probably, my motives to misconstruction. But I greatly mistake my devotion to the welfare of the people of this State, if any selfish consideration could induce me to withhold the expression of any opinion, I might think calculated to promote their interest. And if such a time ever should arrive, I should consider myself utterly unworthy of their confidence. Fortunately, however, my opinions upon this subject are recorded upon the journals of the body of which I was a member, at the time when it was impossible for me to have been actuated by a desire to diminish the powers of the Legislature, or increase those of the Executive.

The best reflection I have been enabled to give to the subject, leads to the conclusion that the most important improvement that could be made in the management of the Banks, so far as the election of Directors is concerned, would be to reduce the number to six, make it the duty of the Governor to nominate double that number to the two Houses, and let them elect, as they now do, by joint vote—pay the Directors a competent salary for their services; and cut them off from all accommodation or liability at the State Bank, or any of its Branches, during the time for which they are elected.

The objection to this change is, that it increases the powers of the Executive in proportion as it diminishes the powers of the Legislature. This is admitted. But let us enquire whether it is not much more probable that the Governor will exercise this power in a manner more likely to promote the public good than the Legislature. For I apprehend it will be readily conceded, that every portion of delegated power, should be so exercised as to be most likely to advance the public interest. Neither will it be controverted, that any portion of power may be safely deposited, in any branch or department of the government, where the public good requires it to be placed, provided the exercise of such power be accompanied by adequate and correspondent responsibility. Indeed the great desideratum in parting with power, is to secure its faithful exercise by certain and adequate responsibility.

It is in this point of view mainly, that the proposed change has a manifest advantage of the existing mode of electing Directors. For, admit that each member of the Legislature is competent to judge of the qualifications of Bank Directors as the Governor, yet the responsibility that will attach to the Executive under the nominating plan, compared with that which now rests upon the members of the Legislature will be as one hundred and thirty is to one; or to speak more plainly, that the responsibility which now attaches to, and is divided among the one hundred and thirty individuals composing the General Assembly, will attach itself directly to the Governor alone. But it is objected that it would be dangerous to repose this power in the Governor, because he would use it to promote his own views of interest or ambition, and that his nominations would always be made from among his personal or political friends. But it should be remembered that the Legislature has a constant check upon him, by rejecting his nominations if they are injudicious or improper, and the vigilant eye of the public would be always upon him. And even admitting, for a moment, although I am far from attributing such motives to others, that an individual elevated to the Chief Magistracy of an enlightened State, could so far forget the duties of that honorable station, as to attempt to infuse corruption into her monied institutions, which are her political life's blood, by selecting a set of unprincipled men, who would be willing to pander to his cupidity, or minister to his ambition, it by no means follow that it would not be better, even to incur the risk of the delinquency and corruption of one individual, than to keep the most numerous and powerful department of the government constantly in the way of temptation. And with respect to the gratification of personal or political partiality or prejudice, all the remarks which apply to the relative responsibility of the two modes, apply with equal force to this objection; or in other words, it is impossible that the Governor shall have as many personal or political favorites to gratify in the nomination of Bank Directors, as one hundred and thirty gentlemen, equally intelligent, equally popular, and just as influential in every respect.

The reasons in favor of reducing the number of Directors are threefold. Perhaps, there is no political axiom more conformable to reason, and correct observation and experience, than, that in the creation of public agents, the smallest number that can be safely trusted with any given power, and can exercise it effectually, is always best; especially when they are to be liberally paid at the public expense.

First, then, there would be greater certainty of obtaining six than the present number, possessing the requisite qualifications in the different sections of the State where the Banks are located; secondly, there would be more likely to be unanimity of opinion and efficiency of action in a small number; and lastly, the difference in point of economy, between paying six, and twelve or fourteen, at each bank, is well worthy of consideration.

But it may be asked, can it be possible, that twelve or fourteen gentlemen, possessed of the requisite qualifications for Bank Directors, cannot be found in the vicinity of the State Bank, and Branches? The condition of some of the Banks at least, furnishes the answer to this question.

It is urged, however, that reducing the number is anti-republican—that, it is taking power from the many, and giving it to the few. This objection, if well founded, would be unanswerable. But of all the objections urged against the proposed change, this is the most deceptive, and the most fallacious. For corporations, in their very essence, are anti-republican; being based upon powers abstracted from the common mass of power, and vested in a limited number for particular purposes.

By the many, when used in reference to political institutions, we mean the people; and the power vested in a corporation, is taken away from the people the moment the corporation is created; and the only interest, the people have in the matter, is, that the power thus taken away should be vested in whatever number is most likely to exercise it for their benefit, whether that number be few or many. And to say nothing more of the idea of introducing political principles into the organization of monied institutions, or pecuniary affairs of any kind; it may be safely affirmed, that if any Banking institutions ever should be based on such principles, they will be certain, in the end, to become political engines in the hands of whatever party may predominate in politics, and to defeat the very object of their creation.

The history of the late Bank of the United States furnishes us with a memorable lesson upon the subject of clothing monied institutions with political powers, or organizing them on political principles.

The most objectionable feature, upon the first blush, in the proposed change, although I am convinced it is one of indispensable necessity, is cutting off the Directors from all accommodations, and preventing their becoming liable to the banks, or either of them, to any extent, during the time for which they are elected. According to the theory of our Government; and it is a theory dear to every patriot; each citizen is entitled to the enjoyment of equal rights. Hence, arbitrarily to deprive a Bank Director of the rights to which, as a citizen, he would be entitled, would be unjust and oppressive. But it is a mere qualification for office, which he may accept or refuse, and to which a sufficient salary is affixed, to compensate him, for the sacrifices he makes, and the labor he performs.

I cannot dismiss this part of the subject, without expressing the most decided disapprobation of the present mode of compensating the Directors for their services, in the form of increased facilities and accommodations. And I regret to add, that the past history of the banks, unfortunately speaks a language much more intelligible, than any I can employ upon this subject. Perhaps of all the modes that human ingenuity could devise, for paying public agents for their services, there is none more pernicious and unwise in principle, or leading more inevitably to corruption in practice, than leaving it to the agents themselves. It is true, there is a prescribed limit beyond which, under the present system, the Directors are prohibited from going.

But he is an indifferent judge of human nature, who does not know, that placing and keeping men constantly in the way of temptation, is not the surest method of preserving their honesty, or ensuring a faithful discharge of their public duties.

The other defects, to which I have alluded as presenting impediments to the successful operation of the banks, are, their failing to keep a larger amount of specie or its equivalent, in proportion to the amount of their circulation, always on hand; the loaning of large amounts to individuals, to foster and pamper a ruinous system of speculation, instead of distributing their loans equally, so as to meet the general wants of the community; and of transacting too large a portion of their business on long time.

That each of these suggestions, will receive at your hands the consideration to which it is entitled, I entertain not the smallest doubt.

I candidly admit, that the circumstances under which this communication is made, impart to every consideration connected with our banking system, a peculiar interest. We are in fact just entering on a new order of things. The expiration of the charter of the U. States Bank—its vast effects upon the State institutions, as well as upon the currency of the country at large, and the confident opinion I entertain, and the hope I cherish, that no similar institution will ever be established in the United States, all unite in giving to the State Banks, a degree of importance hitherto unfelt and unknown. Upon their successful management, more than any thing else, depends the great question, whether, hence forward, we shall be exempt from the absorbing influence of that gigantic institution, which literally engulphed the exchanges of the country, and controlled its pecuniary destinies, at its will, or be brought back to that connection between the Government and banks, the dissolution of which has been decreed by the judgement of a large majority of the American people.

In every light, in which our banks can be viewed, it is now evident, that they are to become institutions of immense importance, either for good, or for evil.

Already we see a State Institution, styled the Bank of the United States, chartered by Pennsylvania, under the control of the mastering spirit of an eminent financier, marching with gigantic strides to the occupation of every inch of unappropriated ground in the different States, with a view of monopolizing the exchanges, and controlling the currency of the country.

It is for us to determine, whether we will secure the immense advantages, to be derived from a well regulated State Bank system, to the present generation, and to after times, or permit them to be filched from us, for the purpose of enriching the citizens of other States, to the injury and the exclusion of the people of Alabama, for the protection of whose rights, we have been appointed sentinels; and over whose interests, it is our duty to watch with unceasing vigilance.

Under the solemn and unchangeable conviction, that the Government of the United States possess no constitutional power over the currency, except so far as the Government itself is concerned, and to prevent any State from making any thing but gold and silver coin, a tender in the payment of debts; and that it is the right and duty of the States, each to provide a currency for itself; and that it is completely in the power of the individual States to provide such a currency by placing their banking institutions on a proper basis, and conducting them in such a manner, as to inspire confidence co-extensively with their circulation, and all the wants of their citizens; it is but natural, that I should feel deeply solicitous to see our Banking institutions placed on the best possible footing, so as to enable them to perform the important part, and fulfil the high destiny that awaits them.

We have seen them already, under their present defective organization, and imperfect management, relieving us of the payment of a State tax for several years; and no one can doubt, that properly managed, they would soon enable us to engage in the important works of a general system of education, and of internal improvement; in regard to both of which, we are in the rear of many of the States of the Union, not enjoying equal advantages with ourselves.

The propriety of the banks resuming specie payments, earlier than the period fixed by the act of June, 1837, will doubtless occupy a portion of your deliberations during the present session. I am decidedly of opinion, that the banks are bound by all the obligations of good faith, as well as the clearest dictates of interest and sound policy, to resume at the earliest possible day, that their means will enable them. And I am further of the opinion, upon a comparative view of their means, and liabilities; that they may resume, with perfect safety, on the first of January.—and should regret, exceedingly, to see any measure adopted by the Legislature, calculated to impair the ability of the Banks to resume, or to induce the necessity for further delay.

The bonds created by the act of the 23d of December, have not been sold.—They were executed in sums of two hundred pounds sterling each, in the month of April, and were ready for market, as soon as the Cashier of the State Bank, could perform the labor of signing the Coupons, which added to his other duties, was very considerable.

The Boards of Directors very properly constituted two agencies, in order to ensure the best market: one in New York, and one in Liverpool. At the date of the last advices from the agent in Liverpool, Alexander Pope, Esq., there was no prospect of a speedy sale on advantageous terms.

Since your last adjournment, several combinations or associations of individuals, in different parts of the State, have confederated themselves together, under different titles and denominations, for the purpose of banking and are now in the full exercise of all its privileges. And I understand there are several other institutions of kindred character, in a rapid state of preparation. It is extremely to be regretted that any portion of the people of this State, should have been so far seduced, or influenced by the evil and pernicious, though generally exploded example of other States, as to have resorted to an expedient, not only violative of the Constitution, but fraught, if not arrested in the outset, with the most disastrous consequences, to the character and credit of the State, and attended with risk, if not absolute loss, to all who meddle with them. Fully satisfied of the illegality of these proceedings, on the part of the individuals concerned in them, I instructed the Solicitors of two of the Judicial Circuits, in which these establishments are located, to institute proceedings against them in the Circuit Courts. One of the informations filed by the Solicitor, I am informed, was continued for want of time, and the other dismissed; upon the ground, that although banking, according to the opinion of the presiding Judge, was a franchise, and the exercise of it a violation of the Constitution, there was no law to prohibit it.

It is for the Legislature, in their wisdom to determine whether they will tolerate a system in direct violation of the Constitution, and a flagrant infraction of the sovereignty of the State—a system rather novel in itself, being, not always founded either on capital or credit, but not unfrequently, on the remnant of a stock of ingenuity and enterprise, that have been unsuccessfully employed in almost every other form of speculation; and the inevitable result of which, must be, to impose upon the community an unsound, depreciated, irredeemable currency.

The arrangement entered into, by the Bank of the State of Alabama, on the 29th day of August last, to make advances on cotton, has been brought to my notice in such a variety of ways, that I do not feel at liberty to avoid submitting a remark upon it. Perhaps there is no principle more universally recognized, than, that corporations possess no powers except such as are conferred upon them by the acts creating them. And that they are not at liberty to undertake to promote the interest of the community, or any portion of it, to the exclusion of the rest; but can only do such things as they are authorized to do, by the acts creating them, and they must do such things as they are authorized to do in the mode pointed out by the charter, and in no other mode.

It is readily admitted, that the planting interest, which this arrangement was evidently intended to favor, is the most important, and that the planters themselves constitute our surest and safest reliance in every emergency. But they are not entitled to favors, to which other classes of the community are not equally entitled, and upon the same terms. The liberties of the people of this country, rest on the broad platform of equal rights, and any attempt to discriminate between them, is striking at the very foundation of our political system.

I am therefore of opinion that this, and all similar arrangements are indefensible in principle and practice.

The contract entered into between the Branch Bank at Montgomery, and the Montgomery and West Point Rail Road Company, is also believed to be unwarranted by the terms of the bank charter, and will be communicated to you, in connection with the Commissioner's report.

Commissioners were appointed in September, to examine the Bank of Mobile, and the Planters' and Merchants' Bank, whose reports will be communicated to you, as soon as they are received. Both these institutions are understood to be in a sound and healthy condition, and have announced their determination, to resume specie payments on the first of January next.

The University of Alabama, which so long struggled against adverse currents, is now rapidly emerging from the difficulties under which it labored, and under the control and influence of a President and Professors who, so far, have proved themselves all that the friends of virtue, education and science could wish;—this Institution bids fair, soon to become what, under happier auspices, it would long since have been, an ornament and a blessing to the State.

At the last annual meeting of the Board of Trustees, the existing vacancies were filled by the election of Samuel H. Stafford, late of South Carolina, to the Chair of Ancient Languages, F. A. P. Barnard of New York, to the Chair of Mathematics, and Horace S. Pratt of Georgia, to the Department of English Literature.

Each of those gentlemen came on shortly after they were notified of their appointments, and Professors Stafford and Barnard have been in the discharge of their respective duties from the time of their arrival.

Professor Pratt's acceptance of his appointment was predicated on the condition; that he could have sufficient time allowed him to wind up his business in Georgia, before he entered on the duties of his station: This was assented to, by the President of the Board of Trustees, the Board not being in session, and after assisting in the organization of the different classes, he departed, under an arrangement with the other gentlemen of the Faculty to divide his duties among them, and perform them during his absence. He arrived at the University a few days since, and it is confidently believed that not the slightest injury has resulted to the interests of the Institution in consequence of his temporary absence.

The Chair of Modern Languages is still vacant, and will probably be filled at the ensuing meeting of the Board of Trustees. In speaking of the condition and prospects of an institution, in which the present and future generations have so deep and important an interest, it would be improper not to notice the highly commendable and praiseworthy deportment of the Students. And, it affords me unspeakable pleasure to say, that never, in any Literary Institution, in any part of the world, did a set of young gentlemen exhibit a more lofty, and undeviating sense of honor and moral rectitude, or more constant, and unremitting attention to their studies, than have been constantly manifested by the Students of the University of Alabama, since its reorganization.

Such has been the entire neglect of any attempt, at any thing like a general system of education in Alabama, that there is at this time, scarcely a school, or Academy in the State, in which, our young men can be fitted for College. This is an imputation under which, a people enjoying the manifold resources, and advantages that we do, ought not to consent, longer to labor.

The great and interesting subject of internal improvement will, no doubt, form one of the most prominent subjects of your deliberation during the present session. I have looked forward with great pleasure to the period, when under a judicious management of our Banking, and financial affairs, the State would be prepared to engage in some work of internal improvement connecting the Tennessee River with Mobile Bay. Candor, however, induces me to say, that I do not consider the present time propitious for engaging in any public work of considerable magnitude.

When our Banks shall have resumed specie payment—public confidence becomes restored—that a portion of our citizens, labouring under the weight of pecuniary embarrassment, shall be relieved from their difficulties, it will afford me great pleasure to co-operate with you in the accomplishment of this desirable object. If however, from your more intimate acquaintance with the wants and wishes of the people, you should think proper, at this time, to direct a portion of the public energies and resources to this object, my assent will not be withheld. Although, I think it had better be deferred.

Among the indispensable duties, that will devolve upon you during the present session, will be the apportionment of the Senators and Representatives among the several counties, cities and towns, according to the enumeration made under the act of the last session. This duty I have no doubt, you will perform in such a manner, as to secure to the people in every part of the State, with as perfect equality as is attainable, the full benefit of the great and invaluable right of separate representation.

I beg leave to press upon your serious consideration, a careful revision of our penal code, with the double view of mitigating its severity, and ensuring a more certain administration of the Criminal Law; and, in connection therewith, the establishment of a State Penitentiary. This subject has been so frequently discussed both in the Legislature, and before the people that, I deem it unnecessary to protract my own views in relation to it. My deliberate opinion is, that the establishment of a Penitentiary would do more to prevent the perpetration, and insure the punishment of crimes, than all our other legislation combined.

If you should agree with me upon this subject, perhaps the better plan would be, to appoint suitable persons to examine similar institutions in different parts of the Union, so that we might be enabled to avail ourselves of the most approved systems in other States.

Intimately connected with the subject of crimes and punishments, is another, which greatly increases the amount of the former, and induces a necessity for the latter. I allude to the retailing of spiritous liquors in small quantities, to be drank where they are sold.

Of all the evils that beset and waylay the path of civilized society, I am satisfied, that Intemperance is the greatest; and that it tends more than any other, and, perhaps, more than every other, to retard the advancement of the American people to that high state of moral and intellectual eminence, which, I hope awaits them. And if the Legislature possessed the legitimate power to suppress this evil, without the infraction of private rights, I should rejoice to see it exercised. But the most deliberate reflection upon this subject, aided by the powerful arguments to be drawn from the dearest interests of human society, have not been sufficient to convince me, that it falls within the appropriate sphere of direct legislative action. That the legislature may regulate the sale of spirits, after it becomes a part of the common mass of property in the State, in the way of taxation, is readily admitted. But the evil is not alone, or so much in the selling, but it is in the drinking. And it will hardly be contended, that it would be competent for the Legislature to punish the drinking of ardent spirits.

I therefore, with great deference to the judgment of others, incline strongly to the opinion, that the correction of this great evil, must be left to the slow, but certain operation of enlightened public opinion.

Under the thirteenth section of the act of 23d December last, I appointed the Hon. Reuben Saffold, of Dallas, William H. Robertson and William Jones, Jr. of the city of Mobile, Esq's Commissioners to inquire into the expediency of establishing a public Warehouse or Warehouses, in the city of Mobile, &c. Their Report has not been received, but is daily expected, and from their acknowledged abilities, it is natural to conclude, that it will place this subject in a proper point of view.

My own opinions are decidedly in favor of the system proposed. I think, it would have the effect of securing to the planter a much more effectual control over his crop, after it is carried to east upon them. That your legislation upon this as well as other subjects, calculated to effect the character and prosperity of our great commercial emporium, (for such Mobile must from her situation always be) will be characterized by a spirit of wisdom and enlightened liberality, I entertain the most confident expectation. For, although it may be true, that in the business transactions of that city, like all others, cases of hardship, imposition, and injustice, may have occurred, yet, it should always be remembered, that vice and moral delinquency, in whatever form they may exhibit themselves, are attributable to individual imperfection or depravity, and not to general classes of men, or particular pursuits.

The revised Military Code prepared by Generals Crabb and Bradford, and adopted at the last session, for the government of the Militia of this State, has not been sufficiently tested by time and experience, to speak with certainty of the merits of the system. Those, who have partially carried the principles of the system out in practice, speak in terms of high approbation of it. Under the requirements of the act for that purpose, I appointed Col. Henry L. Martin to prepare an Index, to it, who performed that duty in a manner, which it is believed, will meet the approbation of the Legislature.

That illustrious individual to whom, more than to any other, we are indebted for the blessings we enjoy, has said, that a well regulated Militia is the best safeguard of public liberty. This alone, is sufficient to entitle the subject to the most deliberate consideration of the General Assembly.

The organization of the Judicial Department of the Government, is still imperfect in many respects, but mainly for want of a separate Court of Chancery. Looking to the Judiciary as decidedly the most important of the three Departments, for the reason, that it is peculiarly the one charged with the administration of the laws, and the protection of individual rights, it is a matter of the highest importance, to have the organization of this Branch of the Government as perfect as possible.

The present system of blending in the circuit courts, Common Law and Equity Jurisdiction, was evidently a mere expedient, only intended to subserve the public convenience, until the wants of the people should induce the necessity for a change, or a more perfect system could be devised.

In many parts of the State, the want of a separate Court of Chancery amounts, almost to a denial of justice. For, to say nothing of the numerous, and most important class of cases, of which, under a well organized Judiciary System, that Court would have exclusive cognizance, it is a matter of rare occurrence, in many of the Circuits, to obtain a final decree in a cause of any importance, within a reasonable time, in consequence of the want of time, and other difficulties inseparably connected with the present system. I therefore respectfully recommend to you the propriety of establishing a separate Court of Chancery.

There are at present nine Judicial Circuits. Perhaps the most convenient and practicable plan would be to divide the State into three Districts, each consisting of three Judicial Circuits, so as to equalise the labor of the Chancellors, and diffuse the benefits of the system as generally as possible, and appointing a Chancellor for each District, and requiring him to reside in it. It is proper to remark, that it is important to the success, and the utility of the system, that a sufficient salary should be attached to the office of Chancellor to command the first order of talents.

Although decidedly in favor of an economical administration, there is another class of officers whose salaries are entirely inadequate. I allude to the Secretary of State, the State Treasurer, and the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Nothing adds more to the importance of a State, than the character of its public officers, and in order to enable them to maintain that dignity, which is due to their official stations, they ought to be liberally paid. It is true that the employment and duties of these offices do not consume all the time of the officers employed in them. But then they occupy so large a portion of it, as to preclude the possibility of their engaging in any other business, without incurring the risk of neglecting their official duties. My own opinion is, that they ought to receive at least fifteen hundred dollars, each.

I also respectfully recommend to you the propriety of placing the office of Attorney General on a different footing, by requiring that officer to give legal opinions to the different Executive officers, whenever they might require it, in relation to the discharge of their official duties; to attend to business in which the State may be a party in the Supreme Court; prepare bills on important subjects, whenever he might be required by Committees of the Legislature; and repealing that part of the law, which requires him to act as Solicitor.

The boundary line between this State and Georgia, is still unsettled. It will be recollected, market, and would, it is believed, to a great extent relieve our commission merchants, resident in the city of Mobile, from the numerous imputations, that have been, either justly, or unjustly that an attempt was made in 1826, to run this by the co-operation of the two States, which resulted in a disagreement between the Commissioners. I beg leave again especially to press upon you the necessity of providing some mode of finally disposing of a question, that with increase in difficulty the longer it is postponed. Indeed it has been delayed longer already, than the character and dignity of the State would justify.

I have the honor to transmit to you copies of Joint Resolutions of the Legislatures of Maryland and Mississippi, in relation to an extension of the franking privilege; of the State of Arkansas in relation to the public domain; of the Legislatures of Ohio and Rhode Island, upon the subject of the annexation of Texas to the United States; of the Legislature of Georgia in relation to the alleged refusal of the Governor of Maine to deliver up to the Executive authorities of Georgia certain fugitives from justice; and of the Legislature of Kentucky in relation to the currency, and administration of the General Government; all of which, I am requested by the Governors of the aforesaid States to lay before you. Most, if not all of these Resolutions relate to subjects intimately connected with the rights of the individual States of this Union, and I recommend them to your deliberate and respectful consideration.

Entertaining the opinions I do, with respect to the relative powers of the State and Federal Government, and believing that the success, as well as the perpetuity of our institutions depend upon confining each to the sphere of action prescribed for it by the Constitution; I have intentionally avoided introducing any question of general politics to your notice, in this communication. It has nevertheless, been a source of the highest gratification, in the great conflict that has been going on between the friends of a National Bank, and the advocates of a Constitutional Treasury, to perceive that a large majority of the people of this State have taken their stand on the high ground of constitutional liberty.

Indulging the hope, and cherishing the belief, that you will enter upon the duties before you, in a spirit of mutual conciliation and elevated patriotism, I fervently beseech the Supreme Law Giver of the Universe, to overrule, and direct all your deliberations, so as to promote the interests and welfare, the honor and happiness of the people of the State of Alabama.

A. P. BAGBY.

The House of Representatives concur in the amendment made to their bill to incorporate the town of Jacksonville.

The engrossed bill from the House of Representatives to be entitled an act to authorise a lottery to remove the obstructions in the Noxubee river, was read the first time and on motion of Mr. Hudson laid on the table.

Mr. Riddle from the committee on propositions and grievances, made the following report:

The committee on propositions and grievances, to whom was referred the petitions of a large and respectable portion of the citizens of the State of Alabama, praying the passage of a law prohibiting the retailing of ardent spirits, have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to Report: That they have given the subject that deliberate and careful consideration, which its importance to the community at large merits.

Your committee fully concur with the petitioners, in reprobating, in the strongest terms, the multiplied evils growing out of intemperance; and would most cheerfully co-operate with the petitioners in adopting any means that would be most likely to put a stop to the evils complained of. The stand taken by the friends of temperance, in producing an entire reformation, has the hearty and entire approbation of your committee.

Your committee have viewed with much pleasure, the even tide of public opinion, bearing down in its onward progress, all opposition to the reformation which has been so happily set on foot by the friends of good order, and of good morals. That which but a few years ago had but a small beginning—hooted at and reviled—has already overspread the land with its beneficial effects, and all accomplished without the aid of the strong arm of the law.

We have seen, by the force of public opinion alone, whole families and communities redeemed from wretched misery, and squalid poverty,—in families in which once discord and strife prevailed, harmony now reigns around the social board. We have seen places, famous for their debauchery and disorderly conduct, entirely reformed, and the drunkard forsaking the bottle and the dram shop, become a good father, husband and citizen. We have also seen the time when the members of the Legislature, and other public officers, could not be elected without distributing intoxicating drink, and making beasts of their fellow men; but your committee are happy to add, that such is no longer the case—and all this reformation has been brought about by public opinion setting its face against such degrading practices.

The cause of temperance is now sanctioned more than ever by all classes of society: no one is found hardy enough to raise his voice against it; no one is so lost to self respect, as to set at defiance the opinion of the more enlightened part of the community. Under such happy auspices, the cause cannot fail of being conducted to a successful termination, without any aid from the Legislature.

Your committee have not stopped to inquire into the great prostration both of the physical and mental energies of man, produced by intemperance, nor have they mooted the question, "whether the use of ardent spirits is beneficial in any case?" Taking the negative of the question for granted, and while your committee view with pleasure, the wide-spread good the cause of temperance has achieved, and the wholesome reformation that has taken place among all classes of society: they nevertheless feel it their duty to withhold their sanction from any legislative action on the subject; believing that public opinion alone, properly directed, and enlightened, the best corrective for the evils complained of. Promote the course of education, inculcate good morals and good order, and it follows, in the course of things, that the antagonist principles will speedily disappear.

What is it, which in all ages of the world, has distinguished the subject of civilization, from the barbarian? The diffusion of knowledge—neither the fear of the dungeon, nor the rack, was sufficient to ameliorate the condition of men, until knowledge was diffused throughout the world; and the first changes from the savage to the civilized state, have always been preceded, or accompanied by the dissemination of knowledge, and man has been found to yield to mild admonition, when the most rigid laws have failed of their intended effect.

Your committee fully appreciate the motives of the petitioners, but believe the passage of a law, such as is desired, would have a contrary effect from that looked for by the petitioners.--- Whatever is intended to act upon the social state, and is of such character, that all classes and all parties may participate in it, should never assume, however remotely, a political complexion. Let, then, that which is well begun, and in successful experiment, eschew any approach to the political controversies of the day.

The question may with some propriety be raised, if it would not be invading the rights of individuals, to enact such a law as is prayed for by the petitioners. A doubt may be raised, whether the public mind is fully prepared for any legislative action on the subject at this time. The experience of the present day furnishes abundant evidence, that those laws not sanctioned by public opinion, are wholly inoperative, and worse than useless. The failure of a law of its proper effect, not unfrequently has a tendency to produce reaction. Your committee therefore thought it would be unwise, to give the enemies of sobriety and good order, any ground to raise the successful cry of persecution, thereby creating a counter current to that which is in successful operation. Your committee hope that their motives will not be misunderstood, but fully appreciated, and that their present action on the subject may be taken as a recommendation to the petitioners, still to persevere, by example, by precept, and by enlightening the public mind, until the retail groceries shall entirely disappear from every town, village and hamlet in our country.

The committee ask leave to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

On motion of Mr Hudson, the report was laid on the table.

Mr Cottrell from the select committee to whom was referred joint resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, reported the same back to the Senate with amendments as therein shewn; the resolutions as amended were as follows, Joint Resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama.

WHEREAS, a crisis has arrived in the history of our government, dangerous alike to the integrity of our constitution, and the form of our government, the determination of which will decide whether ours shall be a government of the people, administered by their constituted agents, or a government of irresponsible power, administered by irresponsible agents, and whereas, in a great contest like the present involving such great results, it becomes the duty, as it is the right, of the General Assembly, to publish and declare to the world its deliberate opinion. Therefore,

1. Be it Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Alabama in General Assembly convened, That the States of North America, which confederated together to establish their independence, became, on that acquisition, free and independent States, and as such, authorised to constitute governments, each for itself, in such form as it thought best.

2. Resolved, That they entered into a compact which is called the Constitution of the United States of America, by which they agreed to unite in a single government as to their relations with each other, and with foreign nations, and as to certain other articles particularly specified.

3. Resolved, That the Constitution being a grant of specified and limited powers, the government has no power, and can exercise no authority, but those that are contained in that instrument.

4. Resolved, That the powers of the federal government were delegated to it in trust, for the accomplishment of certain specified objects, which limit and control them, and that any other exercise of them is in violation of the constitution.

5. Resolved, That the attempt on the part of the federal government, to charter a national Bank of any kind whatsoever, is an undisguised assumption of substantial independent power, not granted, but expressly withheld, and therefore a direct and palpable violation of the constitution.

6. Resolved, That a connection between the government and banks of the country, is beneficial to neither, but injurious to both, and in violation of the constitution.

7. Resolved, That gold and silver being the only currency known to the constitution, the employment of the notes of the banks, by the government, in the collection and disbursement of its revenues, is a most dangerous form of connection between the government and the banks, is adverse to the rights and interests of the people, and a dangerous infraction of the constitution.

8. Resolved, That the firm and decided course of the President of the United States, in the present crisis, and his zealous and untiring efforts to promote a separation of the government and banks, and for the establishment of an independent and constitutional Treasury, merits and receives our warmest approbation.

9. Resolved, That his Excellency the Governor be requested to communicate a copy of these resolutions to the Governors of the different States, with a request to lay them before their respective Legislatures, and also to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Mr Lea moved to strike out all after the word resolved, in the 5th resolution and insert the following in lieu thereof.

Resolved, That changes ought not to be made in systems of policy which have aided in producing and successfully sustaining, the prosperity, happiness and glory of the country, for slight and transient causes.

2. Resolved, That party banners should not be unfurled for the purpose of displaying numbers merely, nor should party triumphs be chanted at a time when all parties acknowledge the country to be pervaded by, and involved in, deep pecuniary embarrassment and distress.

3. Resolved, That the grandest object the present Legislature can accomplish, would be to produce the circulation of a plenty of money, and that of a good quality, so that the people may be relieved from debts and embarrassment, which legislation at home and abroad, has at least in part brought upon them.

4. Resolved, That when the Banks of Alabama shall resume specie payments, if their money be good enough for the people of Alabama, it will also be good enough for the balance of the world; and especially for the general government to which we are compelled to pay so much; and our Senators and Representatives in Congress should be, and are hereby requested and instructed, firmly and perpetually to resist the passage or continuance of any law or executive instruction, which would, after a resumption, prevent the reception of our money, by public officers for public dues, or in payment for public lands.

5. Resolved, That the Sub Treasury scheme is an experiment; one to which the people are and have been unaccustomed, from the origin of the government, embracing the days of Washington and Franklin, up to the present time, and is an unwise, doubtful and dangerous stroke of policy.

Mr Dent moved to postpone the further consideration and lay the resolution and amendments on the table until the first of June next; the yeas and nays being ordered, were yeas 12, nays 16, so the Senate refused to postpone.

Upon motion of Mr Rogers the Senate adjourned till Monday morning ten o'clock.

Monday, Dec. 31.—The Senate met pursuant to adjournment, there not being a quorum present, Mr Hudson moved a call of the Senate, when the following Senators answered to their names. Messrs. President Dent Devereaux Farrar Hill Hudson King Lea McClellan McVay Mays Riddle Rogers Terry Toulmin and Ward. Several other members appearing, the absentees were on motion of Mr Hudson excused.

Mr Lea from the committee on inland navigation and internal improvement to whom was referred a bill to be entitled an act to appoint three commissioners to settle and pay for work done on the Muscle Shoals Canal, by John R. and

S. S. Henry, assignees of John B. Ives & Co. upon the principles of equity and justice, with instructions that the committee report to the Senate all the evidence and information brought before them on that subject, reported that they have had the whole subject under consideration and direct me to report the bill back to the Senate without amendment; and in compliance with the instructions to submit herewith the documents and papers numbered from one to seven; number one, is the memorial of the Messrs. Henry's named in the bill; number two, a report of the commissioners of the Tennessee Canal to the Legislature, containing specifications of the sections of the Canal on which the memorialists operated; number three, articles of agreement between the memorialists or their assignees and the commissioners. Number four is the written opinion of the acting engineer as to the matter in dispute; number five, is the exparte statements of Mr Thomas Williams in answer to sundry interrogations by the memorialists. Number six, a letter of F. H. Petrie, civil engineer on the same subject. Number seven, the letter and opinions of David K. Eshler, chief engineer on the work. The foregoing papers with exceptions of the oral statements and explanations of one of the Messrs. Henry's contain all the evidence and information brought before them. By reference to members it will be seen that the grounds upon which the memorialists seek compensation, are that the sections of the canal undertaken and completed by them embraced two descriptions of work, common excavations and river embankment, the latter being estimated (in the terms published previous to letting the contracts) to be worth double as much as the former. That settlements were made according to the monthly estimates and opinions of the three acting engineers. That a large portion of the work done by the memorialists which was river embankments, was through mistake of the engineers or otherwise reported to the commissioners as common excavation and paid for accordingly; that the acting engineer himself gave subsequently an opinion in writing (No. 4.) contrary to that according to which settlements were made, so that if the facts be true as represented the memorialists in consequence of erroneous or contradictory decisions of the engineer, received one hundred per cent less than the amount to which in justice they were entitled. Wherever the mistake occurred as to the character of the work, the committee under the reference and instruction will add nothing more, but submit the whole matter again to the Senate.

Mr Lea offered a substitute, a bill to be entitled an act to authorise and require the Tennessee Canal commissioners to ascertain whether any thing be due to John R. and S. S. Henry, and if so to settle with them accordingly. Mr Henderson moved to strike out "the Tennessee Canal commissioners." Mr Flemming moved to refer the substitute to a select committee, which was carried. Mr President appointed Messrs Fleming, Baylor and Terry the select committee.

Mr Smith from the committee on roads, bridges and ferries, to which was referred the bill to be entitled an act to authorise Sheppard Brazleton, and M. P. Johnson to build a bridge across the Tallapoosa river in the county of Randolph; reported a substitute which was concurred in and ordered to be engrossed.

Mr Mays introduced the following joint resolutions:

And whereas, certain citizens of the State of Maine have been charged in the State of Georgia with a felony committed therein by kidnapping and carrying away certain slaves the property of citizens thereof, and bills of indictment have been duly found in Georgia against the said persons, who are understood to be now resident in and under the protection of the State of Maine; And whereas, the Governor of the State of Georgia, has by direction of the Legislature thereof, and according to the provisions of the Federal Constitution demanded of the Governor of Maine those delinquents for trial, under the said bills of indictment; And whereas, said Governor of the State of Maine instead of complying with this demand as under the provisions of our National compact he was in duty bound, has refused so to do, stating that he will first lay the subject before the Legislature of his State; And whereas, from the present aspect of the slave question in the United States it no longer becomes a slave holding State to withhold the decided expression of its sentiments on any subject involving those momentous interests. Therefore Resolved, That the State of Georgia in making the demand for the delivery of those delinquents for trial, demanded nothing but what the strictest regard for justice, for respect for herself and the most sacred provisions of our national compact, authorised and required.

Resolved, That it is with the deepest concern we perceive one of the Chief Magistrates of our Federated States refusing prompt acquiescence to this just and rightful demand.

Resolved, That a failure on the part of the State of Maine to fulfil her constitutional obligations in this particular, will be a fatal blow to the security of our institutions and prosperity, and perpetuated in will create great and well founded alarm in the slave holding States.

Resolved, That the cause of Georgia is the cause of the whole South, and we will make common cause with her in all proper measures for procuring a redress for these grievances, and the maintenance of her and our common cause; which were read the first time and ordered to be engrossed for Wednesday next.

Mr Mays offered the following resolution: Resolved, That it be referred to the committee on the State Bank to enquire into the expediency of prohibiting the issuance by the banks of this State of a less denomination than five, after the first day of July 1839, and of bills of a less denomination than ten, after the first day of July 1840, and of bills of a less denomination than twenty, after the first day of July 1841, which was adopted.

Mr Lyon offered the following resolution: Whereas, it appears from the report of the commission on county boundaries, that Cherokee, DeKalb and Marshall counties have not the Constitutional Territory and according to Latourets map; And whereas, by the Georgia survey there exists a difference of some ten or twelve miles of mistake in the aforesaid map; Therefore Resolved, That the committee on county boundaries be instructed to enquire into that fact and report accordingly; which was adopted.

Mr Baylor from the judiciary committee, to which was referred the memorial of the grand jurors of the county of Talladega, reported that the several matters referred to, and prayed for in said memorial, are now in progress in sundry bills and resolutions of inquiry now before this body, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration, which was concurred in.

Mr Baylor from the judiciary committee, to which was referred an act authorising Wiley W. Madison, guardian of George W. Riley to transfer his guardianship of said Riley from the Orphans court of Jefferson county to the Orphans court of Talladega county, reported that it was inexpedient to pass the bill, which was laid on the table.

Mr Watrous called from the table a bill to be entitled an act to amend an act entitled an act to establish a board of commissioners for the improvement of the navigation of the Coosa river and for other purposes; Mr McVay moved to strike out the second section of the bill, which was lost. Yeas 12, nays 16.

The yeas were Messrs President Dent Devereaux Fleming Henderson Hudson Lloyd McVay Rogers Terry Ward and Wilson.

The nays were Messrs. Baylor Farrar Frazier Hill King Lea McClellan Mays Ross Rice Rains Riddle Simmons Smith Toulmin and Watrous.

Mr Watrous offered the following amendment, "provided however at any time during the progress of said work, it shall be discovered that the sum hereby appropriated, is insufficient to accomplish the improvement contemplated by the act it shall be the duty of the commissioners to cease all further expenditures and report to the ensuing legislature" which was concurred in; Mr Simmons moved to strike out the proviso at the end of the bill which was concurred in; Mr Simmons moved to amend the bill by a proviso, which was as follows, provided however that in all cases the commissioners shall have discretionary power as to the point where they will commence operations" which was adopted. Mr Terry moved to reconsider the vote upon striking out the proviso, which was lost, the bill was then ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on tomorrow.

Mr Dent moved to reconsider the vote on the passage of the bill to be entitled an act for the better protection of slaves in certain cases, which was concurred in, Mr Dent then moved to amend the bill by way of engrossed rider, as follows, "provided that the provisions of this act shall not apply to the county of Tuscaloosa" which was lost, Mr Dent called for the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill, which were as follows, the yeas were 17, nays 10.

Those who voted in the affirmative are Messrs. President Baylor Devereaux Frazier Lea McClellan McVay Mays Ross Rice Rains Riddle Simmons Smith Toulmin Watrous and Welborn.

Those who voted in the negative are Messrs. Dent Fleming Henderson Hill Hudson King Lloyd Rogers Terry and Ward.

So the bill passed the Senate and was ordered to be entitled as above.

Mr Rogers offered the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That unless finally disposed of in some mode, the three per cent. fund is likely to be for many years to come, as it has been for many years past, an endless source of debating and legislating, wasteful to the time of the General Assembly and expensive to the State of Alabama.

Resolved, That the committee on inland navigation and internal improvement be instructed to inquire into the propriety and expediency of distributing the three per cent fund among the several counties of the State, agreeably to some just and equitable mode of distribution, and that they have leave to report by bill or otherwise, which was adopted.

Mr Dent offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on propositions and grievances be instructed to inquire into the most expedient and effectual mode of ridding ourselves of that portion of our population known as free persons of color, that they may be removed beyond the limits of the State, with leave to report by bill or otherwise, which was adopted.

Mr King introduced a bill to be entitled an act to require the President of the State Bank, and the Presidents of the different Branches to divide the State into Districts for the purpose of equalizing the benefits of the Banking system of the State of Alabama, which was read the first time, and the constitutional rule dispensed with, was read the second time and referred to the State Bank committee.

Mr Lea introduced a bill to be entitled an act to repeal in part an act entitled an act to extend the time of indebtedness to the Bank of the State of Alabama and its Branches and legalizing the suspension of specie payments of the same and for other purposes, approved 30th June 1837, which was read the first time, the constitutional rule dispensed with, was read a second time and referred to the State Bank committee.

Mr Toulmin offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on the State Bank be instructed to inquire into the expediency of applying such an amount of the State Bonds which have been heretofore issued as may be necessary to take the stock to which the State is entitled in the Planters and Merchants Bank in the city of Mobile, and report by bill or otherwise; which was lost.

Mr Lea moved to reconsider the vote taken on the bill entitled an act to amend an act to incorporate the city of Alabama and Montgomery Rail Road company, which was lost.

Mr Lea from the judiciary committee to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act more effectually to prohibit free negroes and persons of color, from entering into and remaining in the State reported the same back to the Senate with sundry amendments as follows and recommended its passage; at the end of the first section, strike out the last four lines and add in lieu thereof "he shall be liable to indictment, and on conviction be fined, not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisoned not exceeding six months, one or both, at the discretion of the jury trying the offence; after the word "fifty" in the third line of the fourth section, add the word "cents" which amendments were concurred in, the bill laid on the table and fifty copies ordered to be printed.

Mr Dent presented an account which was referred to the committee on indian expenditures.

Mr Toulmin introduced a bill to be entitled an act to form the 10th judicial circuit of the State of Alabama, which was read the first time; the constitutional rule dispensed with, was read the second time and referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr Lea from the judiciary committee, to which was referred the petition of Augustus Spain and Jesse McLane, reported a bill to be entitled an act to authorise the sale of certain land therein named, which was read the first time and ordered to a second reading on to-morrow.

Mr Lea reported a bill to be entitled an act to authorise guardians of minors, idiots and lunatics to receive and remove from this State, any property to which such ward may be entitled, when both guardian and ward reside out of this State, or to remove the same from one county to another in this State, which was read a second time and ordered to a third reading on to-morrow.

The Senate then proceeded to the orders of the day. The bill to be entitled an act to improve and develop the internal resources of the State of Alabama, was taken up and the motion to fill the blank in the second line was withdrawn. Mr President offered two amendments as additional sections which were adopted. Mr Smith moved to fill the blank in the second line of the first section, with "twenty" which was carried. Mr Watrous offered an amendment as an additional section, which was adopted. Mr Dent moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill until the first of March next; when on motion of Mr Mays the Senate adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Friday, January 4, 1839.—The Senate met pursuant to adjournment. Mr Lloyd presented an account; which was referred to the committee on Indian expenditures.

Mr Toulmin presented the petition of the President and Directors of the Mobile and Cedar Point rail road; which was referred to the committee on internal improvement.

Mr Riddle presented a petition from A. K. Smith and others; which was referred to the committee on education.

Mr Hudson presented an account; which was referred to the committee on accounts and claims.

Mr Hudson presented an account; which was referred to the committee on accounts and claims.

Mr Cottrell presented a petition from the citizens of Lowndes county; which was referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mr Dent from the committee on Indian expenditures, to which was referred the claims of Captain Simmons, for services rendered as commander of a volunteer county during the late Creek disturbances, reported it inexpedient to legislate upon the subject; which was concurred in.

Mr Dent from the committee on Indian expenditures, to which was referred the account of Dr Dorick S. Ball, reported a bill in favor of the account claimed to be entitled an act to compensate Dr. Dorick S. Ball, which was read the 1st time and ordered to a second reading on to-morrow.

Mr Hudson from the committee on inland navigation and internal improvements, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act to declare Choctaw creek a public highway from Davis to Bagly's mills, in the county of Talladega, reported the same back to the Senate without amendment, and recommended its passage. The bill was read a second time and ordered to be engrossed for third reading on to-morrow.

Mr Lea from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred a message from the House of Representatives with a resolution that they be instructed to inquire whether the act of the last session of the Legislature, requiring the census to be taken during the year 1835, was passed in conformity with the constitution; and whether an apportionment can be made consistently therewith at the present session, reported, that the object of the framers of our constitution in adopting the ninth section of the third article, was to carry out the doctrine in the bill of rights, that all freemen are equal—equal especially in that high privilege the right of repre-enumeration—this is clear; the obvious design too, was to designate certain fixed periods or years, within which the population of each county should be distinctly known; and your committee can perceive that nothing more is meant (and nothing less) by the expression, “cause an enumeration to be made of all the inhabitants of the State,” &c. Your committee then, without treading over all the unimportant steps in the reasoning which bring them to the conclusion, will barely remark that the enquiries necessary to satisfy all who doubt upon the subject can be but two. 1st. Is 1835 the year, or one or one of those periods, within which our population ought to be ascertained? 2d. Is this “the first session of the Legislature held, or that can be held,” after ascertaining the population in 1835? Your committee believe, both propositions must be answered in the affirmative. It must appear obvious to every one who will search for the intention of the framers of the constitution, that the mere action of the Legislature as to taking the enumeration, or as to time, or mode, could have been and was of but little consequence, provided the proper result should take place, at the proper time, that is—the population be known. The time is important only where applied to the enumeration, and the establishment of the fact that there are so many hundred thousand freemen whose voices shall be heard in the Legislative councils of the State. If such be the object and essence of the section above alluded to, the committee would ask, might not a prospective act have been passed at Huntsville, in the year 1819, and in pursuance thereof an apportionment may be legitimately made at the present session! The committee understand the constitution to mean that the population ought to have been ascertained in 1828, and in (or during) every six years thereafter; so that it ought also to have been ascertained in 1832, and has been properly ascertained in (or during) 1835; the enumeration therefore being made previous to the session, this being in the language of the constitution, the first session held after making such enumeration and making and causing to be made, are merely different terms, conveying and designed to convey as previously shown, but one important idea. Your committee feel confidence and pleasure in responding to the call of the Senate, and declare it as their deliberate opinion that in strict conformity with the object of the constitution, the enumeration has been taken; and at the present session of the Legislature the apportionment can be made; and that the Legislature would be acting in violation of the constitution not so to do. Mr Rains moved to postpone the further consideration of the report and that it be made the special order of the day for to-morrow; which was carried.

Mr Terry from the committee upon accounts and claims, to which was referred the memorial of James Thompson of Chambers county, together with the petition of sundry citizens of said county, reported the same back to the Senate as inexpedient to be allowed out of the funds of the State treasury, it being properly a county charge. Also, that the memorialist in justice should have an allowance made out of the county treasury of Chambers county. Mr Mays called for a division of the question—the vote was taken upon the first part between the words ‘reported’ and ‘charge’ inclusive; which was carried. The vote was then taken upon the remainder of the report; which was lost.

Mr Ross from the committee on Indian improvements and inland navigation, to which was referred the memorial to the Congress of the United States on the subject of the Muscle Shoals canal, reported the same back to the Senate, and recommended its passage; the memorial was then read and passed the Senate. Ordered, to be engrossed.

Mr Rains from the committee on education, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act to incorporate Liberty Academy, in the county of Pickens, reported the same back to the Senate and recommended its passage. The bill was read a second time, and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on to-morrow.

Mr Lea from the judiciary committee, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act to form the tenth judicial circuit of the State of Alabama, reported the same back to the Senate, without amendment, and recommended its passage; the bill was laid on the table.

Mr Mays from the committee on the State Bank, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act the better to secure a safe and prudent management of the State Bank and Branches thereof, reported it inexpedient to pass the bill; which was concurred in.

Mr Mays from the committee on the State bank, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act, to repeal in part an act, entitled an act to limit the accommodations of the President and Directors of the Bank of the State of Alabama and its several Branches, approved, December 23d, 1837, reported it back to the Senate, and recommended its passage. The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading on to-morrow.

Mr Baylor from the committee on the judiciary, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act to prohibit unlawful banking associations, reported a substitute for the bill referred to them, and asked its substitution; which was concurred in, and the bill laid on the table, and two hundred copies ordered to be printed.

Mr Mays from the committee on the State bank, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act for the relief of Cyrus Phillips, reported a substitute and recommended its adoption; and also requested to be discharged from the further consideration of the petition accompanying the bill; which was concurred in. Mr McVay offered the following amendment, 'And be it further enacted, That all debtors to the Bank of the State of Alabama shall be entitled to like indulgence, in like circumstances, as the person for whose benefit the foregoing act is designed to relieve' Mr Simmons moved its amendment by striking it out and inserting the following: 'Sec. And be it further enacted, That the Bank of the State of Alabama and its several Branches shall not charge exchange on any bill drawn payable in any of the eastern cities, drawn previous to the suspension of specie payments; and in all cases where exchange has been charged, it shall be refunded to the person or persons so paying.' Mr Terry moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill and amendments until the 4th of July next. The yeas and nays were demanded. Yeays 19, nays 10; the motion prevailed.

The yeas were messrs President Baylor Devereaux Farrar Fleming Frazier Henderson Hill Hudson McClellan Lloyd McVay Rogers Simmons Smith Terry Ward Watrous and Wilson.

The nays were messrs Cottrell Dent King Lee Mays Ross Rice Rains Toulmin and Wellborn.

Mr Mays from the committee on the State Bank, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act to repeal in part an act therein named, reported that it was inexpedient to adopt it; which was concurred in.

Mr Dent from the committee on the State Bank, to which was referred a resolution instructing them to inquire into the expediency of prohibiting the issuance by the banks of this State, of bills of a less denomination than five dollars, after the first day of July, 1839; and of bills of a less denomination than ten dollars, after the first day of July, 1840; and of bills of a less denomination than twenty dollars, after the first day of July, 1841; reported that it is inexpedient to legislate upon the subject—the report was laid on the table.

Mr Farrar from the committee on inland navigation and internal improvements, to which was referred a resolution in relation to that part of the Governor's message upon internal improvement, reported that bills have been reported to the Senate embracing the object of the resolution; which was concurred in.

Mr Frazier from the select committee, to which was referred a bill from the House of Representatives, to be entitled an act to authorize the judge of the county court and commissioners of roads and revenue for the county of Jackson, to levy and collect a tax, reported the same back to the Senate and recommended its passage. The bill passed the Senate. Ordered, that it be entitled as above.

Mr King from the committee on the State Bank, to which was referred a bill to be entitled an act to establish a branch of the State Bank on the Little Bigby river, reported the same and accompanying documents back to the Senate, with the following amendment to the bill—strike out the 'Little Bigby river,' wherever it occurs in the bill; the amendments were adopted.

Mr Terry moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill until the first Monday of March next. Mr Cottrell demanded the yeas and nays on the motion to postpone. Yeas 17, nays 10. The motion prevailed.

The yeas were messrs President Baylor Cottrell Dent Devereaux Farrar Fleming Frazier Hender son Hudson McClellan Lloyd ways Rice Terry Tenham Ward and Wilson.

The nays were messrs Hill King Lee McVay Ross Rains Simmons Smith Watrous and Wellborn.

Message from his Excellency the Governor, by Mr Gooch:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, TUSCALOOSA, JANUARY 4TH, 1859.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives—I have the honor to lay before you the accompanying communication from the Mobile Rifle Company and beg leave to recommend it to your favorable consideration. I am informed that a petition will be submitted to you showing the nature of the case particularly. Independently of the fact, that this very respectable corps have already sufficiently evinced their public spirit and patriotism, by arming themselves and repairing to the standard of their country in time of need; I would respectfully recommend to the consideration of the General Assembly the propriety of arming and equipping of volunteers corps as the only efficient means of insuring unto our military system that spirit in which its usefulness and efficiency naturally depend. I beg leave therefore respectfully to recommend to you the propriety of making an appropriation sufficient to cover the expense of the arms and accoutrements of this corps, and requiring them to deliver them up to the State whenever required. I have the honor to be, your most obedient serv't,

A. P. BAGBY.

Hon. James M. Calhoun, President of the Senate.

RESOLVED, That all the rights named in the constitution of the State of Alabama are unalienable by the action of any other power than her own.

RESOLVED, That the constitution contains the expresse grant to the Legislature to establish Banks.

RESOLVED, That the Legislature by establishing Banks in pursuance of the constitution become bound to give the highest possible credit to the bills of the Banks so established, and that it would be bad faith to the people, if after authorising the Banks to issue bills to circulate as currency, they should do any thing, directly or indirectly, calculated to injure the credit of the currency so created.

RESOLVED, That the currency created pursuant to the constitution of this State, should so long as our Banks pay specie, be received in payment for public lands and other public dues.

RESOLVED, That whereas the Banks of this State were chartered for the benefit of the entire population, who are ultimately responsible for their liabilities, and are virtually the real holders of the stock, any action of this Legislature calculated to injure the credit of the bills of the banks, would be bad faith to the people of the State.

RESOLVED, That the pecuniary liabilities of the people of this State, both to the Banks and each other have been incurred with a knowledge of, and reference to the existing currency of the country; therefore any act of the Legislature in any way varying the liabilities between debtor and creditor would be improper and unjust.

RESOLVED, That the adoption of the Sub Treasury scheme as now proposed, would be prejudicial to the interests of the people by depressing the value of property in proportion to the decrease of the currency, by which that property is represented.

RESOLVED, That this Legislature deprecates the establishment of Treasury Banks as dangerous to the liberties of the people.

The nays were messrs. President Dent, Devereaux, Hudson, King, Lee, McClellan, Ross, Rains, Riddle, Watson and Wellborn.

The 9th resolution was adopted. The question was then upon the adoption of the preamble to the joint resolutions; adopted. On motion of Mr. Hudson the orders of the day were suspended and Mr. Lee introduced the following joint resolutions of the Senate and House of Representative of the State of Alabama in General Assembly convened.

RESOLVED, That Congress ought not to be made in systems of policy which have aided in promoting and successfully augmenting the prosperity, happiness and glory of the country for a past and transient course.

RESOLVED, 2d. That any foreign loan should not be incurred for the purpose of displaying munificence in relief of our countrymen, but should be contracted at a time when all parties acknowledge the country to be perishing, and involved in deep pecuniary embarrassment and distress.

RESOLVED, 3d. That the grant of aid to the present Legislature can accomplish, would be to procure the circulation of a plenty of money, and that of a good quality, so that the people may be relieved from debts and embarrassments, which legislation at home and abroad, has at least in part, brought upon them.

RESOLVED, 4th. That when the Banks of Alabama shall resume specie payments, if their money be good enough for the people of Alabama, it will also be good enough for the balance of the world, and especially for the G. and G. currency, to which we are compelled to pay so much of our sundries and paper, and to which Congress should be, and are hereby requested and instructed firmly and perpetually to resist the passage or continuance of any law or Executive instruction, which would after a resumption, prevent the reception of our money by public officers, for public dues, or in payment for public lands.

RESOLVED, 5th. That the Sub-Treasury scheme is an experiment; one to which the people are and have been unjustly torn from the origin of the Government, embracing the days of Washington and Franklin up to the present time, and is an unwise, doubtful and dangerous stroke of policy.

RESOLVED, 6th. That any measure calculated to reduce the people of the United States to the use of a metallic circulation would be hostile to our interests as a commercial nation.

7th. Be it further Resolved, That Congress ought to pass no law prohibiting the reception of the notes of specie paying Banks in the several States in discharge of public dues.

8th. Be it further Resolved, That the public funds ought not to be intrusted to the keeping of individuals selected for that purpose by the President, who are amenable to him and who hold their offices at his pleasure.

9th. Be it further Resolved, That for the purpose of effecting our commercial independence and of creating such a circulation as our wants demand it is important that a Bank of large capital be established by the Southern and South-western States.

Mr Mays moved to postpone the further consideration of the resolutions until the first day of March next, the yeas and nays were called for, yeas 17, nays 12.

Message from his Excellency, the Governor, by Mr Gooch:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, Tuscaloosa, January 18th, 1839.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives: The act of the 23d December, 1838, 'authorizing persons therein named to raise a loan in behalf of the State of two million five hundred thousand dollars,' appears to be defective in not requiring the interest upon the amount of said stock deposited with the State Bank and Branches to be paid by them respectively, in proportion to the amount thereof. I therefore beg leave most respectfully to recommend to your consideration the propriety of passing a law making it the duty of the president of the State bank to inform each of the branch banks, officially, of the periods and the place, at which the interest on this loan is to be paid; and requiring each of the Banks to provide the means of paying the interest on this stock in proportion to the amount thereof held by them respectively. It is proper also to add, that the presidents of the two banks with whom I have had the honor of conferring upon the subject, concur fully in the propriety of passing such a law.

A. P. BAGBY.

Mr Hudson from the joint committee appointed to examine the offices of the Comptroller of Public Accounts and State Treasurer, reported that they commenced their investigation with the 27th day of November, 1836, to which date the said offices had been examined by a committee appointed for that purpose, by the legislature, as appears by said report—the committee have compared every voucher with the entries on the books in the Comptroller's office, and all the vouchers in the Treasurer's office with the corresponding entries in his books, together with the various acts authorizing payments, &c. from that period to the close of the fiscal year, on the 26th day of November, 1838 ; an examination running through more than four thousand entries, and in all of which, not the least difference appeared. They also examined all the additions and extensions of the books, and compared them with the several reports made by those officers and found them to correspond with exact correctness. To those reports the committee refer for the condition of the several funds, and for balance in the Treasury, all of which is on deposit as appears by the Treasurer's bark book. The committee also examined a neatly executed register in the office of the Treasurer of all the State bonds issued pursuant to the several acts of the General Assembly, creating State Stock since 1834, and a tabular statement of all that had been issued from 1827 to that time. The books in both of the offices are kept in a clean neat style, and in a plain and simple system, and all of the papers, vouchers, &c. correctly and carefully filed. And the committee cannot close their report without expressing their sense of the great facilities so politely afforded them by those officers, and they take pleasure in saying that they have discharged the reponsible duties of their respective offices, with ability and fidelity. Signed—Benjamin Hudson, Chairman, on the part of the Senate—Solomon McAlpin, Chairman, on the part of the House of Representatives: which was concurred in.

Mr Rice, from the committee on privileges and elections, to which was referred sundry documents relative to the contested election between James Ward and Angus McAllister, of Henry, Covington and Dale counties, reported that the law prescribing the mode of contesting elections, approved January 5th, 1838, requires that a notice in writing shall be given to the party whose seat is contested, either by a personal service of the same, or by a copy thereof being left at his usual place of residence, within thirty days after such election shall have been holden. Your committee have been unable to find any such notice among the numerous documents referred to their consideration. That although there appears to be a large amount of testimony, much principally ex parte, yet inasmuch as the necessary steps precedent to taking such testimony were not complied with, your committee believing that all such testimony was illegal, did not minutely examine the contents thereof. That said Angus McAllister has presented no memorial to the Senate, stating the grounds of said contested election—not has he appeared in his own proper person, nor by any agent known to your committee. Your committee are therefore of the opinion, that the said Angus McAllister has been fully satisfied and convinced that his claims are illegal and unsupported by testimony. Wherefore, because no sufficient notice has been executed on the said James Ward agreeably to the above recited act, and because no memorial has been presented to the Senate by the said McAllister, setting forth the grounds of such contest; and lastly, because said McAllister does not appear by himself or his agent, to prosecute said contest. Therefore, be it Resolved, That the said James Ward, the sitting member, is entitled to his seat in this House as Senator from the counties of Henry, Covington and Dale, and that said Angus McAllister, is not entitled to the same, which was confirmed in by the Senate.

Sec. 1. And be it further enacted, That an additional election precinct be, and the same is hereby established at Leake's mill, in the county of Blanton.
